

Dear mommy,

I am writing this as I am travelling by train to go to Paris for my office trip. We were all talking about our parents and suddenly I had this urge to talk to you. I know I have never been very expressive with my feelings. But I want to say Thank you for being my mommy.

You have always been a go-to person for me. Every difficulty that came across me, became a very small deal after talking to you. You have these magical powers of solving everything.

I love you, mommy.

I will call you as soon as I can.

Yours,

XYZ
