Dear Jonah,

I hope this letter finds you well!

Parenthood can be stressful sometimes, even before the baby is born. However, the last six months have been a blessing and a breeze because you were there with me at all times. For that, I, Hilary Johnson, would like to express my truest and deepest gratitude. You have been the pillar that kept me together through the messy times that pregnancy has brought upon me in my life.

Even though we haven't formally moved in together, you have always been around whenever I needed you. If I have been able to get through the morning sickness bouts, the overall discomfort of an enlarged belly, and remain sane, it is because of you. With the love you show to our unborn child, I can already predict what a great father you will become once our baby is in this world.

I'm eternally grateful to you for all the support and love you have showered over me and our child. I'm excited to see how our journey together goes forward from here. Thank you, my love.

Yours lovingly,
